QUAY'S BOODLE FOR THE LAST DAYS. Judge Thurman's Vigor-Mr. Breckinridge's eat-Major Martin of Texas-The

Washington, October 14.—[Special.]— Judge Allen G. Thurman's visit here has set at rest the widespread and prevailing rumor of his weakness both in body and mind. His speech before the supreme court in behalf of the government in the Bell telephone case was ndid argument and showed that his mind was as vigorous and active as a few years ago when he was a leading member of the senate. His presence at the capital was welcomed by all, for after his argument before the supreme court on Tuesday he repaired to the office of the secretary of the senate, where the senators of both parties flocked around him to shake his hand and pay their respects, and even the old employes of the senate who were here with him vied with the enators in welcoming him. He remembered all the employes, and in speaking with them called each by name. All of them seemed really to love the "old Roman."

As to his health, it seems very good. I saw him in June at his home in Columbus. He seems today in even better health than at that time. There is a flush in his cheek that was not so visable at that time, and his voice is undoubtedly stronger. While making his speech before the supreme court his voice was at first weak but in a few moments it grew loud and his utterances were thoroughly distinct thoughout the chamber.

Judge Thurman is undoubtedly good for many years yet if his present condition is any

There is a very bitter fight being made in arkansas against representative C. R. Breck-inridge's return to congress. Mr. Breckinridge will be remembered as the man with whom Mr. Blount had a rough and tumble fight in a democratic caucus at the opening of this session. He is a member of the ways and means committee and the son of the late John C. Breckinridge, of Kentucky. But his prospects of being returned to the fifty-first congress at present looks rather gloomy. In Arkansas, besides the two regular parties there is a union labor party which controls a very large vote. In the recent state elections his district gave the union labor candidate for governor twenty-seven hundred majority over the regular democratic nominee. This party now has a candidate out opposing him, and the republicans also have a man in the field. The republicans will vote solidly for their man, and it is feared the union labor party will make such a draw upon the democratic vete that Mr. Breckinbrige will sustain defeat.

The matter became so evident to the demo-cratic leaders in the state that they have written here for him to return home at once and enter the canvass. Mr. Breckinridge, however, had engagements ahead in New York under the national committee, which he is compelled to fill, and cannot get to Arkansas before the 25th. Realizing the embarrassing position of Mr. Breckinridge, Senator Berry, of Arkansas, has gone home to canvass in the district until Mr. Breckinridge can get there. Senator Berry thinks it is going to be a tight race but hopes to carry it for Mr. Breckin-

Mr. Breckinridge is now the leading orator on the canal boat, Thomas Jefferson, which is traversing the Erie canal from Buffalo to Albany laden with democratic speakers and campaign documents. The boat left Buffalo a few days ago, and will stop at all towns along the canal at intervals of twenty-five miles and whoop up for Cleveland and tariff reform. A brass band is on board with a battery of artiliery on the bow of the boat, which is drawn by six white horses and decorated with national flags and portraits of the candiduring the day and at night a huge stereopticon illuminates the darkness with tariff maxims. The portion of the canal trayersed by the Thomas Jefferson is largely republican but as the canal men use plenty of materials, such as hemp and iron work, that are enorm-qualy enhanced in price by reason of the tariff, those special subjects will be set before them.

The Thomas Jefferson will come through the canal to Albany, and then be towed to New York. The entire expenses of the trip, which by ex-Mayor John Boyd Thacher, of Albany. Major William H. Martin, the representative from the second district of Texas, of whom so many queer stories have been printed this session, is a typical Texas ranchman. He was very green when he first reached Washington, and the many stories written about him were founded on facts. He has, however, in a degree recovered from his verdancy and has learned the art of not talking too much.

I had a talk with him yesterday about his home in Texas. He lives near the little town of Athens and owns of the very choicest ranches in the entire state, comprising some two or three thousand acres of the best grazing lands. He owns about 3,000 head of cattle, a large

He owns about 3,000 head of cattle, a large head of horses, and his wealth is above the hundred thousand figures.

Major Martin was born in Twiggs county, Georgia, but moved to Texas when a mere lad. He commanded a company of Texans in the Virginia campaign under Lee, and was said to be one of the bravest men in the war. He has been unanimously renominated and will be tetrned to the fifty-first congress. He declares his intention of making another tariff speech as soon as an opportunity presents itself.

tor Isham G. Harris, of Tennessoo, has Senator Isham G. Harris, of Tennessoo, has been a membe of the senate for twelve years and is one of the best posted men on the democratic side as to the rules of that body. His time expires on the 4th of next March, and he is again a candidate but is opposed by Colonel J. D. C. Adkins, who resigned the commissions while of Indian affairs to go home and make the race for the senate. Mr. Adkins has now been in the field about two months, while Mr. Harris has been here on the senate finance committee attending the hearings on the tariff. Senator Harris has however, gone home and the contest has opened in earnest. Mr. Adkins is a popular man in the state, and is an able man. His friends claim that he will succeed Senator friends claim that he will succeed Senator Harris, but on the other hand the latter's riends claim he will be his own successor. Senator Harris is a valuable man on the demonate side of the senate, and the party could not well afford to lose his services on the floor of that body.

GOVERNOR GRAY'S ESTIMATE.

Governor Gray, of Indiana, has written a letter here, in which he says that the canvass a the hoosier state indicates a large democratic gain over that of 1884, and that Mr. Cloveland's majority will be considerably treater than four years ago. He also says that Indiana will send eight democrats to control of the majority will be considerably that indiana will send eight democrats to control of the majority will send a solid democratic delegation to the fifty-first congress.

The domocrate also expect to gain one man haryland, two in Illinois and one in Michiga.

It is said he and Chairman Quay have come to an agreement as to the congressional districts which are to be supplied with fat, many of which are in the southern states. Of the southern states North Carolina, West Virginia and Maryland are to get the great share. Congressman Breckinridge's district in Arkansas, will also get a good share of the boodle, for the republicans are especially anxious to defeat him, since they failed to oust Mr. Mills.

ious to defeat him, since they failed to oust
Mr. Mills.

BOODLE FOR THE CAMPAIGN.

The republican national committee has recently raised an enormous amount of money, which they are holding to be spent during the three days preceeding the election. Chairman Quay's plan is to drop in immediately before the election and buy with hard cash every vote on the market, both for the national ticket and for the republican candidates in the close congressional districts. Chairman Barnum understands his scheme, however, and that is why he is now making such great efforts to raise money, which will also be used during the few days immediately preceding the election.

The national democratic committee have men here now making arrangements for the transportation of every democratic voter in the departments to his home on election day, Very low rates have been secured, and every man from a doubtful state will go home to vote. There will probably be about four thousand of them.

The following Georgiu postmasters have been appointed: John L. Avery, at Cawline, Floyd county; Lewis T. Thompson, at Engle, Fayette county; C. S. Matthews, at Onburg, Floyd county; Stephen G. Wilbanks, at Wood station, Catoosa county; J. L. Miller, at Dames ferry, Monroe county; Andrew M. Brayer, at Cheyne, Gordon county.

THE WEEK IN CONGRESS.

Senators and Representatives Growing Scarce in Washington. WASHINGTON, October 14.—By the last cenis of the senate taken Friday afternoon, there were fifteen members present for duty. while enough more to raise the aggregate available for emergencies to within half a easy call. Since then several have left the city. Contradictory reports are current re garding the iprospective adjournment (all traceable, oddly enough, to highly authoritative

Against all of these the statement of Senator Allison, who, having the tariff bill in charge, is more likely than any other member of either house to know the situation thoroughly, can be quoted to the effect that no arrangement or understanding of any kind has oughly, can be quoted to the effect that no arrangement or understanding of any kind has yet been reached on the subject of adjournment. The opinien is, however, almost unanimous that congress will adjourn, take a long recess, or in some other way bring the session to an end within the present week, and in this opinion Seuator Allison is understood to concur. The situation is one of considerable delicacy. Shound any senator, through force of habit or absence of mind, demand a division, or otherwise develop the absence of a quorum, parliamentary chaos would ensue. Under the senate rules it would be the imperative duty of the chair to send the sergeant at-arms and his deputies in search of the abperative duty of the chair to send the sergeantat-arms and his deputies in search of the absentees, and until an unpaired quorum should be obtained, no other business, not even a resolution to adjoun sine die, or take a longer recess than three legislative days, would be in order. The fact that any one member of the senate may prevent adjournment has led to the suggestion that, in deference to the constitution the

that, in deference to the constitution the chairman pro tempore and one member of each party be left in attendance to meet twice or three times a week, and adjourn with the understanding that no legislation shall be attempted. There are members of both parties in the senate who still think that the tariff in the senate who still think that the tariff bill should be brought to a vote, but in view of the difficulties they are greatly in the minotity, and the situation is such that an adjournment resolution, coming from any source, is likely to be unanimously adopted.

Senator Morgan will call up for action early in the week the resolutions giving to the heads of executive departments authority, in their discretion, to make exhibits at Paris of articles belonging to their departments, and it is no si-discretion, to make exhibits at Paris of articles belonging to their departments, and it is possible that some other belated measures which are not likely to encounter any opposition may be taken up in the morning hours, but the principal part of the time henceforth to the end of the session, will be devoted to speeches on the tariff.

Not more than twenty-five or thirty members of the house of representatives are expected to be in their seats tomorrow. Objection will be made to the transaction of any important business in the absence of ninetenths of the members, and the legislative possibilities for the coming week are almost nothing. Short sessions and long recesses will be the prevailing order.

Rome, October 14.—The pope was present at the time of Count Herbert Bismarck's visit to Cardinal Rampella yesterday, and gave a short audience to Count Herbert. The latter declared that the existing treaties between Germany and Italy did not admit the possibility of any territorial claim in favor of the papacy. Emperor William has invited Premier Crispi, General Viale, min ister of war, and Professor Boselli, minister of public instruction, to luncheon at the German embassy. The emperor today talked at length with a deputation of German residents, who presented an address of welcome. In the afternoon the emperor and suite visited the pantheon and laid a wreath upon the tomb of Victor Emanuel and signed the visitors' book. A crowd gathered outside the pantheon and gave the emperor an enthusiastic greeting when he came out, his homage to the late king making a deep impression upon the people and adding to his popularity. Later the emperor and King Humbert walked to Pincio and Villa Borghese. On returning to the quirinal a reception was given to the Italian officers. Rain prevents the proposed illuminations.

Emperor William has presented to the pope a gold snuff box, set with jewels, with his own portrait in the middle.

During the interview between the emperor and the pope, Prince Henry arrived, coming twenty minutes before he was expected. Monsignor was surprised and hesitant. Count Herbert Bismarck thereupon said that the Prussian prince must not be kept waiting at the ante room, but must be immediately announced. The emperor came out of the audience room a few minutes after Prince Henry was announced, and introduced his brother to the pope. It is stated that the pope, owing to the brevity of his interview with the emperor and his own discursiveness, had not time to say all he wished, and was therefore disastisfied. It is rumored that Emperor William instructed his brother to come before the time for the purpose of shortening his talk the time for the purpose of shortening his talk with the pope. The emperor evinced little interest in the works of art in the museum of the Basilica of Saint Peter, always repeating the words "I shall return."

Collins and others, committee. Gentlemen—In obelience to custom, I send you this formal acceptance of my nomination for the office of vice-president of the United States, made by the antional convention of the democratic party at St. Louis, When you did me the honor to call upon me at Columbus, and officially notify me of my nomination, I expressed to you my sense of obligation to

I am a'so strongly impressed with the belief that his re-election would powerfully tend to strengthen that fealing of fraternity among the American peo-ple that is so essential to their welfare, peace and happiness, and to the perpetuity of the union and of our free institutions.

I approve the platform of the St. Louis convention, and I cannot too strongly express my dissent from the heretical teachings of the monopolists that the welfare of the people can be promoted by a ystem of exorbitant taxation far in excess of the wants of the government.

The idea that people can be enriched by heavy and unnecessary taxation, that man's condition can be improved by taxing him on all he wears, on all his wife and children wear, on all his tools and implements of industry, is an obvious absurdity. To fill the vaults of the treasury with an idle surplus, for which the government has no legitimate use, sources), to the effect that it has been deterand to thereby deprive the people of our currency needed for their business and daily wants and to create a powerful and dangerous stimulus to extra-agance and corruption in the expenditures of the government, seems to me to be a policy at variance with every sound principle of government and of consequent depletion of the circulating medium, is so apparent that no party dares to deny it; but when we come to consider the modes by which re-duction may be made, we find wide antagonism be-tween our party and the monopolistic leaders of our political opponents. We seek to reduce taxes upon the necessaries of life; our opponents seek to in-crease them.

We say, give to the masses of the people cheap and good clothing, cheap blankets, cheap tools and cheap lumber. The republicans, by the platform, and their leaders in the senate by their proposed bill, say increase taxes on clothing and blankets and thereby increase their cost, maintain a high duty on the tools of the farmer and mechanic and upon the lumber which they need for the construc-tion of the modest dwellings, slops and barns, and thereby prevent their obtaining these necessaries at Judge Thurman in Indiana.

CINCINNATI, October 14.—Judge Thurman is quietly resting in this city, preparatory to his trip to Shelbyville tomorrow. He came down during the afternoon, and, although greeted by the poople at the different stations he made no speech save at Washington Courthouse, where he told a hundred and fifty people on the platform: "If I were a preacher I would preach you a sermon, but as I am not I will not say anything on Sunday." The judge desired to go quietly to his hotel, and had planned to walk there, but when he reached the sidewalk through a big crowd of enthusiastic democrats he gladly sought refuge in a carriage. Tomorrow the judge leaves at $120 a. m. for Shelbyville, escorted by the Old Roman Guard of Columbus and the Duckworth club and others of this city.

Betting on the Result. Betting on the Result.

Collumna, S. C., October 14.—[Special.]—
The betting in this state on the general result of the election is very light. Yesterday three bets were recorded, one of fifty to twenty-five dollars on Cleveland, between two democrats, and two others of one hundred to seventy-five dollars each on Cleveland. A leading republican took both. No even bets have been made. W. V. Martin, a grocer, offers one thousand dollars on Cleveland, but has had no takers.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., October 14.—[Spec ial.]-There was indignation in the medical bureau last night. The visiting corps of volunteer physicians met in soleum conclave to nication in the Metropolis, which advocated doing away with the services of these physicians as a useless and reckless piece of expense. Dr. B. F. Sheftall, of Savannah, was chosen chairman, and Dr. L. C. Carr, of Cincinnati, secretary. There were fourteen members of the society present, Dr. Joseph Y. Porter, the president eing the only absentee. The company took seats, and thereupon a dissection of the communication in question began. The operation could hardly be called a post-mortem exami-nation, for the object of it was dead. It mation, for the object of it was dead. It was a clear case of "vivisection," The doctors cut the article up alive. They were indignant at the spirit of the communication, which, by the way, was signed "Jacksonville," a fact which may account for the general impression among these physicians that it was a reflection of the dominant sentiment of this community. Below is nant sentiment of this community. the closing portion of it:

"It is understood that the resident physicians, besides their customary expenses, have incurred unusual pecuniary obligations in several ways, in the hire of ligations in several ways, in the hire of extra equipage, will not receive any benefit from the magnificent contributions of the extra equipage, will not receive any benefit from the magnificent contributions of the charitable people of the United States, not withstanding they have done their full share of what is known as charity practice. All pay from that source, it is said, will be reserved by the authorities for the "visiting physicians" who have done faithful service, and the favored few whom they have selected to perform hospital duties, which are comparatively light. This expense is enormous, as each visitor receives at the rate of about $500 per month as follows: Salary per month at $10 per day, $300; hire of horse, buggy and driver at $5 per day, $150; board etc., estimated per month, $50. Total $500. To these items are to be added rent of hotel, appurten ances, salaries of managers of restaurants, clerks, attaches, servants etc. Possibly a leak items are to be added rent of hotel, appurten ances, salaries of managers of restaurants, clerks, attaches, servants, etc. Possibly a leak might be stopped just here."

A big talk was had. Then Dr. Carr offered a resolution, which was unanimously adopted, By the terms of this the whole corps has resigned to a man with the exception of Dr. Porter from any further service to the city or the people of Jacksonville. They will not make another new call; the patients already under their charge will be turned over to the resident physicians, and then the doctors will tender their services free of charge to Dr. Porter, the same to be made use of by him in any way which he may wish. But they "shake Jacksonville once and for all." They say that they have no idea of practicing where they are not wanted; that they have made personal sacrifices to come practicing where they are not wanted; that they have made personal sacrifices to come here in our hour of need, but, that if we don't want them they certainly don't want us.

It was after midnight when the conclave arose and not till some time after that hour a delegation called at the office of the Times-Union and tried to suppress publication of their action, but it was too late. Editorially this morning the Times-Union denounced the resignations as unreasonable, unwarranted and precipitate. Now the dectors are madder than ever. A conference was arranged with Dr. Neal Mitchell, however, and tonight the visiting doctors have agreed to hold their the visiting doctors have agreed to hold their resignations in obeyance until the board of INFIDELITY THE CAUSE OF CRIME. Prevalence of this Crime-How the Bible Presents It.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., October 14.—[Special.]—At the Tabernucle this morning, the Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, D.D., took for his text, Acts chapter II, verses 19 and 20. "He drew out his sword, and would have killed himself, supposing that the prisoners had been fied. But Paul cried with a loud voice, saying, Do thyself no harm." The sermon was as fol-

Here is a would-be suicide arrested in his deadly attempt. He was a sheriff, and according to the Roman law, a bailiff himself must suffer the punishment due an escaped prisoner; and if the prisoner breaking jail was sentenced the sheriff must be endungeoned for three or four years; and if the prisoner breaking jail was to have suffered capital punishment, then the sheriff must suffer capital punishment. The sheriff had received especial charge to keep a sharp lookout for Paul and Silas. The government had not had confidence in bolts and bars to keep safe these two clergymen, about whom there seemed to be something strange and supernatural.

Sure enough. by miraculous power, they are free, and the sheriff, waking out of a sound sleep, and supposing these ministers have run away, and knowing that they were to die for preaching Christ, and realizing that he must therefore died, rather than go under the executioner's axe on the morrow and suffer public disgrace, resolves to precipitate his own de-cease. But before the sharp, keen, glittering dagger of the sheriff could strike his heart, one of the unloosened prisoners arrests the blade by the command: "Do thyself no

In olden time, and where Christianity had not interfered with it, suicide was considered honorable and a sign of courage. Demosthenes poisoned himself when told that Alexander's ambassador had demanded the surrender of the Athenian orators. Scerates killed himself rather than surfender to Philip of Macedon. Cato, rather than submit to Julius Cæsar, took his own life, and after three times his wounds had been dressed, tore them open and perished. Mithridates killed himself rather than stubmit to Pompey, the conqueror. Hannibal destroyed his life by poison from his ring, considering life unbearable. Lyourgus a suicide, Brutus a suicide. After the disaster of Moscow, Napoleon always carried with him a cide, Brutus a suicide. After the disaster of Moscow, Napoleon always carried with him a preparation of opium, and one night his servant heard the ex-emperor arise, put something in a glass and drink it, and soon after the groans aroused all the attendants, and it was only through utmost medical skill he was resuscitated from the suppor of the opiate.

Times have changed, and yet the American conscience needs to be toned up on the subject of suicide. Have you seen a paper in the last month that did not announce the passage out of life by one's own behest? Defaulters, alarmed at the idea of exposure, quit life precipitately. Men losing large fortunes go out of the world because they cannot endure earthly existence. Frustrated affection, domestic infelicity, dyspeptic impatience, anger, earthly existence. Frustrated affection, do-mestic infelicity, dyspeptic impatience, anger, remorse, envy, jealousy, destitution, misan-thropy, are considered sufficient causes for ab-sconding from this life by Paris green, by laudanum, by belladonna, by Othel-lo's dagger, by halter, by leap from the abutinent of a bridge, by firearms. His two books entitled "Footprints of the Creator" and the "Testimony of the Rocks" proclaimed the banns of an everlasting marriage between genuine science and revelation. On this latter book he toiled day and night through love of nature and love of God, until he could not sleep, and his brain gave way, and he was found dead with a revolver by his side, the fercel instrument having had two bullets—one for him and the other for the gunsmith who at the coroner's inquest was examining it and foll dead. Have you any doubt of the beatification of Hugh Miller, after his hot brain had ceased throbbing that winter night in his study at Portobello? Among the mightiest of earth, among the mightiest of heaven.

[INO one doubted the plety of William Cowper, the author of those three great hymns, "Oh, for a closer walk with God," "What various hindrance we meet." "There is a fountain filled with blood;" William Cowper, who shares with Isaac Watts and Charles Wesley, the chief honors of Christian hymnology. In hypochondria he resolved to take his own life, and rode to the river Thames, but found a man seated on some goods at the very point from which he expected to spring, and rode back to his home, and that night threw himself upon his own knife, but the blade broke; and then he hanged himself to the celling, but the rope parted. No wonder that other hymn just as memorable:

that other hymn just as memorable: God moves in a mysterious way
His wonders to perform;
He plants his footsteps in the sea
And rides upon the storm.

Blind unbelief is sure to err And scan His work in vain; God is His own interpreter, And He will make it plain.

While we make this merciful and righteous allowance in regard to those who were plunged into mental incoherence, I declare that that man who in the use of his reason, by his own act, snaps the bond between his body and his soul goes straight into perdition. Shall I prove it. Revelation, xxi., 8: "Murde'ers shall have their part in the lake which burnch with fire and brimstone." Revelation 22, 15: "Without are dogs, and sorcerers, and whoremongers, and murderers." You do not believe the New Testament! Then, perhaps, you believe the Ten Commandments: "Thou shalt not kill." Do you say all these passages refer to the taking of the life of others? Thou halt not kill." Do you say all these passages refer to the taking of the life of others? God gave you a special trust in your life as He made you the custodian of an other life. He gave you as weapons with which to defend it two strong arms to strike back assailants, two eyes to watch for invasion, and a natural love of life which ought over the be on the alert. Assassinations of others is a mild crime compared with the assassination of yourself, because in the latter case it is treachery to an especial trust, it is the surrender of a castle you are especially appointed to keep, it is treason to another life treason to God added to ordinary murder.

To show how God in the Bible looked upon this crime, I point you to the rogues' pictures of the people who have committed this unnatural crime. Here is the headless trunk of Saul on the walls of Bathshan. Here is the man who chased little David—ten feet in stature chasing four. Here is the headless trunk of Saul on the walls of Bathshan. Here is the sharp point sticking upward, and he throws his body on it and expires, the coward, the suicide. Here is Ahithophel, the Machiavelli of surrendering his sword with dignity, as many aman has done, asks his servant to slay him; and when the servant declines, then the giant plants the hilt of this sword in the earth, the sharp point sticking upward, and he throws his body on it and expires, the coward, the suicide. Here is Ahithophel, the Machiavelli of olden times, betraying his best friend David in order that he may become prime minister of Abasion, and joining that follow in his attempt at parricide. Not getting what he Appendix to the same book.

Rousseau, Voltaire, Gibbon, Montaigne, under certain circumstances, were apologotic for solf-immolation. Infidelity puts up no bar to people's rushing out from this world into the next. They teach us it does not make any difference how you live here or go out of this world, you will land either in an oblivious newhere or a glorious somewhere. And infidelity holds the upper end of the rope for the suicide, and aims the pistol with which a man blows his brains out, and mixes the strychnine for the last swallow. If infidelity could carry the day and persuade the majority of people in this country that it does not make any difference how you go out of the world you will land safely, the Hudson and the East rivers would be so full of corpses the ferryboats would be impeded in their progress, and the crack of a suicide's pistol would be no more alarming than the rumble of a street car.

I have sometimes heard it discussed whether the great dramatist was a Christian or not. I do not know, but I know that he considered appreclation of a future existence the mightiest hinderance to self-destruction:

"For who could bear the whips and scorns of time, The oppressor's wrong, the proud man's contumely, The pangs of despised love, the law's delay, The this price in the proud man's contumely. The pangs of despised to the law's delay, The this price in the proud man's contumely. The pangs of despised love, the law's delay, The thickness of office and the spurss That patient merit of the unworthy takes, When he himself might his quietus make which a bare bodkin' Who would fardels bear, To grunt and sweat under a weary life.

Hut that the dread of something after death—The undiscovered country, from whose bourne No traveler returns—puzzles the wii!"

The undiscovered country, from those courses. No traveler returns—puzzles the will?"

Would God that the coroners would be brave in rendering the right verdict, and when in a case of irresponsibility they say: "While this man was demented he took his life;" in the other case say: "Having read infidel books and attended infidel lectures, which obliterated from this man's mind all appreciation of anything like future retribution, he committed self-slaughter!"

Ah! Infidelity, stand up and take thy sentence! In the presence of God and angels and men, stand up, thou monster, thy lip blasted with lust, thy breath foul wirth the corruption of the ages! Stand up, Satyr, fifthy goat, buzzard of the nations, leper of the centuries! Stand up, thou monsterinfidelity! Part men, part ranther, part repuils, part dragos, sand up and take thy sentence! Thy hands red with the blood in which thou hast washed, thy feet crimson with the human gore through which thou hast waded, stand up and take thy sentence! Down with thee to the pit and sup on the sobs and groans of families thou has blasted, and roll on the bed of knives which thou has sharpened for others, and let thy music be the everlasting miserere of those whom thou hast damned! I brand the forehead of infidelity with all the crimes of self-immedation for the last century on the

of those whom thou hast dammed. It will be forehead of infidelity with all the crimes of self-immedation for the last century on the part of those who had their reason.

My friends, if ever your life through its abrasions and its molestations should seem to be unbearable, and you are tempted to quit it by your own behest, do not consider yourself as worse than others. Christ himself was tempted to cast himself from the roof of the temple; but as he resisted, so resist ye. Christ came to medicine all our wounds. In your trouble I prescribe life instead of death. People who have had it worse than you will ever have ir have gone songful on the way. Remember that God keeps the chronology of your life with as much precision as He keeps the chronology of nations, your death as well as your cradle.

Why was it that at midnight, just at midnight, the destroying angel struck the blow that set the Israelites free from bondage? The four hundred and thirty years were up at twelve o'clock that night. The four hundred and thirty years were up at the result and the result have been tardy and too.

four hundred and thirty years were up at twelve o'clock that night. The four hundred and thirty years were not up at eleven, and one o'clock would have been tardy and too late. The four hundred and thirty years were up at twelve o'clock, and the destroying angel struck the blow, and Israel was free. And God knows just the hour when it is time to lead you up from earthly bondage. By His grace make not the worst of things, but the best of them. If you must take the pills, do not chew them. Your everlasting rewards will accord with your earthly perturbations, just as Caius gave to Agrippa a chain of gold as heavy as had been a chain of tron. For the asking—and I do not know to whom I speak in this august assemblage, but the word may be especially appropriate—for your asking you may have the same grace that was given to the Italian martyr, Algerius, who, down in the darkest of dungeons, dated his letter from "the delectable orchard of the Leonine prison."

remember that this brief life of ours is

And remember that this brief life of ours is Surrounded by a rim, a very thin, but very important rim, and close up to that rim is a great eternity, and you had better keep out of it until God breaks that rim and separates this from that. To get rid of the sorrows of earth, do not rush into greater sorrows. To get rid of a swarm of summer insects, leap not into a jungle of Bengal tigers.

There is a sorrowless world, and it is so radiant that the noenday sun is only the lowest doorstep and the aurora that lights up our northern heavens, confounding astronomers as to what it can be, is the waving of the banners of the procession come to take the conquerors home from church militant to church triumphant, and you and I have ten thousand reasons for wanting to go there, but we will never get there either by self-immolation or impenitency. All our sins slain by the Christ who came to do that thing, we want to go in at just the time divinely arranged, and from a couch divinely spread, and then the clang of the sepulchral gates behind us will be overpowered by the clang of the opening of the solid pearl before us. O God, whatever others may choose, give me a Christian's life, a Christian's death, a Christian's burial, a Christian's immortality!

A GREAT FLORIDA ORANGE CROP. Probably 2,500,000 Boxes Will be the Total-The Fever Not Affecting the Trade.

From the New York Sun.
One of the leading dealers in oranges said resterday that the yellow lever in Florida thus far had no effect on the sales of the fruit. Tuesday 2,500 boxes of oranges and an equal number of barrels of white grap's were sold on the fruit exchange. Yesterday the sales were much larger.
One of the agents of the Florida fruit exchange said to an Evening Sun reporter this morning: "The Florida fruit exchange advises its agents here that the crop of oranges this year will be 2,500,000 boxes.

the largest ever grown. Many growers believe that it will reach 8,000,000 toxes."

Dr. Smith, the guarantine officer, was consulted by the New York agents of the exchange and said there would be no obstruction to the importation of cranges from the south. They are being got from Jamaica now. The frut from Florida will begin to arrive about Nov. I, and keep coming until April.

The output of American lemons this year amounts o 50,000 barrels, but all the experts in the trade declare that the time is not far distant when America will raise all the igmons she needs for home con-

Park Row, New York City.

ATLANTA, GA., OCTOBER 15, 1888.

The Democratic Outlook.

The democratic situation as we diagno It is this: The south, New York, and New Jersey are for Cleveland and Thurman. We consider New York and New Jersey as safe as Virginia or North Carolina. The electoral vote will stand on this basis: For Cleveland, the south 153, New York 36, New Jersey 9, total 198; necessary to an election, 201. The assured Cleveland states therefore leave him 3 votes short of a majority. The 3 needed votes he will get from either Indiana, Connecticut or Michi-

We have great faith in Indiana, less faith In Connecticut and still less in Michigan. The democrats have immense advantage in this. They need only one of the three doubt-ful states, while the republicans need them all. The democrats can concentrate on either of the three and win if they capture that one. The republicans must fight for all three of the states, and will lose unless they capture all three.

To review the above somewhat, we con sider New York safe, because it is an overwhelmingly democratic state. A dozen causes of democratic defection and disaffection combined to cut Cleveland's vote and Increase Blaine's vote in 1884. Not one of these causes exists today. The democracy is united on Cleveland and on Hill, and the fight over local candidates will only serve to bring out a fuller vote. A full vote in New York city and Brooklyn means a big democratic majority. The registration points to a very full vote, and the best judges look for a democratic majority below Harlem river of 90,000. This, majority it will be impossible to overcome north of the rivereven admitting that the tariff reform agitation does not affect the republican rural voters. We have full and abiding confidence in the skill and management of Gov ernor Hill, and he realizes, of course, that it will mean ruin to him if Cleveland should be beaten-or, indeed, if Cleveland should run materially behind the state ticket. Governor Hill will see to it that there is no knifing done and that everything runs together. New Jersey is as safe a democratic state ns'New York in proportion to its population. The local elections of last week show unexpected democratic gains and indicate at least that there is no falling off to be expected in the democratic vote.

As for the rest, we feel confident the dem ocrats will carry Indiana. The party is united, enthusiastic, splendidly led and or-ganized from way-back. The state pride in Harrison's nomination, which might have inured to republican advantage, is lost in the unfortunate record of the candidate on the labor issue. There is every reason for believing he will lose largely among the workingmen. The democrats have a natural majority of from 6,000 to 10,000 in Indiana, and in our opinion will hold it.

Mr. Cleveland's election will be assured without Connecticut or Michigan-and in our opinion it is lucky it is so. In Connecticut the chances are about even between the parties. The democrats have carried the state in the last two presidential electo 1.500-but, small as this is, it has proved a steadfast majority. The Connecticut democrats are sturdy fellows and true blue. They realize that every man's vote will be ded to carry the state, and every vote will be brought out. In Michigan the chances are about even, with the drift in favor of the republicans. It should not surprise us to see these two states balance each other-even to see both go one way or the

We rely confidently on the south, New York and New Jersey, which will give Cleveland 198 votes. We feel reasonably sure he will get enough to carry him over the river from Indiana. The probabilities are that he will carry Connecticut also-and is le not improbable he will carry Michigan. The outlook is bright and brightening for

The Cotton Movement. The New York Financial Chronicle, in its weekly review of the cotton movement, eavs that for the week ending October 12 the total receipts have reached 250,644 bales against 190,568 bales last week, 128,399 bales the previous week and 89,677 bales three weeks since, making the total receipts place the first of September, 1888, 744,143 hales, against 1.182.838 bales for the same period of 1887, showing a decrease since September 1, 1888, of 438,695 bales. The exports for the week reach a total of 105,633 bales, of which 76,397 were to Great Britain, 16,570 to France and 12,666 to the rest of the continent.

'The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 527,900 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 16,176 bales, including 7,772 for export and 8,404 for consumption. The imports into coninental ports have been 2,000 bales. There has been a decrease in the cotton in sight of 739,252 bales, as compared with the same date of 1887, a decrease of 261,360 bales as compared with the corresponding date of 1886 and a decrease of 264,071 bales as compared with 1885. The old interior stocks have increased during the week 37,702 bales and are 42,325 bales less than at the same period last year. The receipts at the same towns have been 8,280 bales less than the same week last year, and since September I the receipts at all the towns are 234,054 bales less than for the same time in 1887.

The total receipts from the plantations since September 1, 1888, are 868,435 bales;

292,101 bales, the balance going to increase the stocks at the interior towns. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 308,457 bales and for 1886

they were 262,565 bales. The decrease in amount in sight as compared with last year is 499,513 bales, the decrease as compared with 1886 is 50,679 bales and the decrease from 1885 is 100,391

The Chronicle says that the market for future delivery at New York was unsettled and irregular for the week under review. The feature was the steady decline in options for October, due to some irregularity in quotations for cotton on the spot, low grades being rated higher than they would sell at. A revision of spot quotations on Wednesday after 'change caused on Thursday a smart advance for October. The winter and spring months became more active on Tuesday, and prices advanced smartly, on an adverse crop report from New Orleans and a rumor that the bureau report would prove unfavorable; but this report, when made public on Wednesday, was better than expected, and being generally regarded as substantially correct, except in its figure for Texas, (which it is believed is ed too low) caused a selling movement in which the advance of Tuesday was wholly lost. Thursday, the later months, after a weak opening, became active and buoy ant, on the report of heavy rains in the At lantic states and the predictions of an early frost by the federal signal service. Friday an early advance, in sympathy with a stronger Liverpool report, was followed by a sharp decline under sales to realize, ending with a recovery on a demand to cover contracts. Cotton on the spot was rather dull all the week. Quotations were reduced 3-16c on Monday and changed from old to new crop on Tuesday, involving a nominal decline of tc, though practically unchanged. After 'change on Wednesday a revision of quotations was posted, reducing low grades of white 1-16c to 5-16c and stained to to -16c, in addition to the decline of 1-16c on the regular market. The Chronicle's advices by telegraph indicate that under the influence of generally favorable weather conditions picking and marketing have made good progress. Light frosts are reported in some sections, but

THE republicans are trying to get up an excuse for sending Brother Blaine to the rear. His mouth appears to grow bigger and bigger every day.

Only a Private Affair. "Old Hutch's" wheat corner in Chicago omes under the head of the "private affairs" recently defended by Mr. Blaine. The New York Herald calls attention to the fact that this little private affairs raised the price of flour $3 a barrel, and made bread worth from one and a half to two cents a loaf more than it was six weeks ago. "It eats into the wages of a poor man like a rat into cheese." Our contemporary shall have the mercury down to zero. The three things the poor most need are slowly climbing out of reach. The coal combine will look after the matter of fuel, and the laborer can have the pleas-ure of freezing to death. The republicans will take charge of the woolen products and see that the price of undershirts is kept at a ruinous figure. The wife and little ones must shiver in calico, if they don't like that, they can catch the primonia and go to a better world. The speculat in wheat will see the poor man has no bread and in wheat will see the poor man has no bread and pocket big profits while their victims starre.

This "private affair" business is clean played out. The government policy that doesn't have an eye to the laboring classes is already dead and should have speedy burial, and the political party which ignores their interests should nominate iscariot for president and nail the black flag to the masthead. That would be simply honest, but perhaps honesty is too yaves to expect the speed. is too much to expect.

These are strong words but not too strong. Speculation for the sake of speculation alone should confine itself to luxuries. When it touches the poor man's bread there is danger ahead. When specuferers will not be hampered by any very nice scruples when they get ready to take their revenge.

CARTER had oats and Hutch had wheat Extreme Realism on the Stage.

A new play shortly to be produced in New York will offer a unique attraction. It seems that two notorious burglars will be engaged to appear on the stage and crack a safe in full view of the audience. They will be equipped with the necessary tools usually carried by all well-regulated burglars, and it is expected that their work will add greatly to the interest of the play. Very naturally, since this announcement has been made people are wondering what the police will do about it. One of the inspectors is quoted as saying that if the burglars are wanted for any particular offense his men will intensify the realism of the drama by walking on the stage and nabbing them.

The inspector's threat is all bosh. If the promised stars turn out to be genuine ourglars there will not be a policeman in the house-the officers detailed for that beat will be found just around the corner, anywhere except within striking distance of the burglars. The managers know what they were about when they advertised their two professional cracksmen. They knew that there would be no dead-head policemen in the audience so long as the criminals held

It will be useless for anyone during this performance to yell, "Perlice!"

Brother Blaine's Trusts. Brother Blaine is the heartiest campaigner that the republican party can boast of. He is a loud talker and an excellent actor. but recently he has been overdoing his part. In his Portland speech, delivered shortly after his arrival in this country from Europe, he remarked that the trusts "are largely private affairs, with which neither President Cleveland nor any private citizen has any particular right to interfere."

These remarks, widely copied and commented on, carried consternation into the republican campaign headquarters. It was a bold and uncompromising announcement, and it was calculated to commit the republican party to a species of combination more obnoxious than any which the monopolists at Portland that I should not discuss the advantages or disadvantages of trusts, whatever they might be, nor shall I now. They have no place in a national campaign. They are state issues."

This is a decided advance on the part of Brother Blaine. What at Portland was "largely a private affair," becomes at Foxcroft a state issue. This would seem to be sufficient change for one man to make in his views, but it did not suit the national committee, for we observe that Brother Blaine, in his western campaign, has, in response to the commands of the republican committee, entirely revised his views about the trusts. At Portland they were "private affairs;" at Foxcroft they were state issues; but at Goshen, in Indiana, where Brother Blaine has recently been campaigning, they take on another hue and color. They become vile and indecent, so to speak, and Brother Blaine goes so far 'as to say that they (the trusts) "are levying countless millions upon the pockets of all the consumers of this But this is not all. He goes on country." to say that the trusts are completely influencing legislation and shaping the policy of the government; and these conflicting statements and rumors go to show that Brother Blaine is quite as big a humbug as any of the trusts.

WHEN BEDELL, THE FORGER, was arraigned New York, the other day, he refused to tell his name or to answer any question. The judge told him that he must give his reasons for refusing to answer, but Bedell declined even to do this. The judge did not know how to punish him, as he was already in jail, but he finally decided to commit him for contempt.

THE PHILADELPHIA RECORD says: "The youngest soldier of the civil war, who breaks out periodically, is at it again. It seemed ("drummer boy of Chickamauga"), then in charge of the United States Arsenal at Gray's Ferry, was entitled to the distinction, which is now claimed for Eli Wright, of Youngstown, who enlisted in an whio regiment at the age of twelve years and one month. The man who is supposed to have been the oldest soldier died lately at Bellows Falls, Vermont, aged 92 years. Larius Smith enlisted in company I of the Twelfth Vermont Volunteers in 186 He was then 67, and a man of remarkably strong physique. He would at the time of his death have passed for a man of 60."

SAYS THE DEAD MAN SPOKE. Undertaker Donnelly's Story of a Talk With

From the New York Press. In a little undertaking shop at 74 Hudson avenue Brooklyn, a most sensational and startling story was related by Thomas F. Donnelly the pro-oprietor of the establishment. Donnelly, declared had on Tuesday morning last witnessed a resurrection from the dead and had actually seen a corpse rise up in its coffin and enter into converse on with men who were doing all they could to lace it beneath the green sod.

It was a startling story, and Donnelly told it with suppressed awe that made the flesh of one who heard its features related crawl. The undertaker seemed loath to speak to a re-porter of the Press about the resurrection, and at first declared that he was not Mr. Donnelly himself, but was only his clerk. He was firally persuaded to speak, however, and this is the remarkable story

"On Monday last," said the undertaker, "I was called in to remove a corpse from a private hospital cance into remove a corps from a private hospital for consumptives to Jersey City for buria! I placed the corpse in a pine box on Monday afternoon and removed it to myshop, intending to put it in a coffin and remove it to Jersey City on Tuesday. On Tuesday morning, when I went to remove it, I observed right in the burial cas' et, rubbed its eyes, looked about it and said, 'Well, boys, I've had a close call. haven't I?' We were all frightened and asionished but we continued to help the corpse back to life and today the dead man is alive and well."

An Incident. From the New York Herald,

A strange story, indeed! Tender, pitiful dit and won would have been as generous under the same cirnumstances.

A woman who called herself Mrs. Browne comnitted suicide at the Compton house. She was alone and friendless, had seen the dark side of life ound it too much for her, and determined to quit ife in order to eacape from-that is her secret, and t is buried with her. She was laid on a marble slab in the morgue

Hundreds came to look at her face, but she re-mained unidentified. Potter's field was her destination. Without home or family or money, nauner's grave awaited her. Among the visitors, as related elsewhere, were wo women. They forgot their own sinful lives in pity for this poor creature. The old and real love the pure love of a sister, or a remnant of it, welled ap in their souls, as spring water from the hillside. They determined that she should have kindly burial at least, paid the expenses of the funeral, went together in the only carriage that followed the hearse to Evergreens cemetery, on Long Is-land, dropped a flower, a rose, on the coffin as it was lowered into the earth and said goodby to Well, the incident is worth remembering.

Young Jesse James's Strange Luck. Jesse James, Jr., only heir of the great land dirate, is 15 years of age, and—strange irony of fate—works for T. T. Crittenden and his sons, for that ery governor of Missouri who Lounded his fathe to death, and received his uncle Frank after the surrender of the latter. The story of the boy's en-gagement to work in Crittenden's real estate office s interesting. The boy, it appears, answered an an rertisement for an office boy. Half a dozen eager policants were before him den asked him what he could do.

'I'll fight, run a foot race, or write a letter with my of these kids for the job," answered the bri-Write a letter," said Crittenden.

Jesse compiled, and proved to write a better hand than any other applicant. "What is your name?" asked the ex-governor Jesse James, Jr.," answered the boy.

Doubtless ex-Governor Crittenden was as surprised that he was about to hire the son of the notorious Jesse, whom he had hired the assassins to kill, a the boy and his mother were to learn that the former's employer was the ex-governor.

A Strange Penance.

From the Overland Monthly While I was in San Salvador I saw a strange sight in the street one feast day. A man was under-going penance by crawling from one church to an-other. Both churches were in the same street, and the distance between them was about half a mile. The man had on a white suit of light undercloth ing, and a white cap was drawn down over his face.
He crawled—not on his hands and knees—no; those ho imposed the penance knew a trick worth two he crawled on his elbows and knees, and in the middle of the street, over the irregularly laid igged stones. iggel stones,

One or two women stayed with the man and spread pieces of cloth to soften somewhat the hardness of the road. What was his sin I did not learn.

This, said the doctor, was our Saviour's reply to Satan when he challenged his divinity by asking to convert 'these stones into bread."

Bread is indispensable to human existence, and if any one thing should be cheaper than all others it is this "staff of life."

He who, by any manipulation, places it beyond the reach of the toiling poor is the greatest enemy of the human race. God who made us, has provided for our normal necessities. The legitimate forms of industry necessary to human existence are commended by God. The Bible is favorable to wealth properly acquired, and for a useful purpose. It lays no interdict on human industry. It only comdemns the unwholesome concern for the wants of the body. The Master here uses bread to denote all the material wants of the individual and the nation. Man shall not live in the satisfaction of material wants alone.

They are a necessity, but not the only necessity. We are dual-spirit and fiesh; and the wants of the spirit are as real, urgent and profound as those of flesh. While diligent in business, we must more diligently seek that which enriches the soul. "Seek first the Kingdom of Heaven." Ahas! It is clear to all that the denominating spirit of this age and country is the grossest materialism. The world hears not the cry of God but of gold. The advance of the materialism is fearful. I feel as helpless as an infant when I at tempt to cry but against it and the environments of men maddened by the love of gain. But as our Master rebuked a sordid world, so should his servanty. The duty is mine, the result is with the Master. The blisstul rewards of heaven are not for the successful, so much as for the faithful. The charge I make against our age, is that it thinks to live "by bread alone." That the great thinks are not appreciated. The dominant sentiment of the age is materialistic; spirit is subordinated to flesh, conscience to appetite, God to Mammon.

No nation so sordid and grasping ever escaped bloosished a revolution and greav. Our ages, to:

No nation so sordid and grasping ever escaped bloodshed, revolution and decay, Our ancestors sought this country for religious freedom. The dear old Puritans cared little for money and flothing for luxuries. They longed for soul food and to live in communion with God. There was little room for play of the lower desires. But the wonderful opportunities offered by this magnificent country, agricultural, mineral and maunnaturing, for the acquisition of wealth, have educated a nation to the pursuit of gain. No people ever had a better chance or made a better use of it. We are actually mad in the pursuit of wealth. It is the great passion of our nation, and is poisoning both our social and religious life. The love of money is so potent that the man who declaims against it is called a crank, a mad-cap, a tanatic. The questions that monopolizes our civil government relate entirely to finance and material industry. All material subjects are legitimate questions of debate, but that which relates to our moral welfare is tabooed. A government should foster among its people the love of virtuousconduct. Let sothe man introduce for leglisation some moral question and he becomes at once a target for ridicule.
Any senstor may leave his seat to discuss before the

To allow any institution that weeks, degrades and destroys one of her citizens, is a greater calamity is a Christian nation, and as we depart from the Commandments we are in danger. Our constitution places the Bible in our schools, but our city government, to placate a God-hating element, has displaced it from cur public schools. The Koran may come in, Hume and Gibbon are not interdicted, (ut the Bible, God-written, the only star that can safely pilot us through the dark sea of life to a haven of safety, must stay out. What next? The evolution of the Sabbath, the obliteration of God's word from our statutes the evil. A nation out of whose black night no star rises to tell of coming day.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Editors Constitution: Please give a history of the presidential flag. When was it first used, etc.?

P. D. The use of the presidential flag originated with President Arthur. He first suggested it in the spring of 1882, his attention having been called to the fact that nearly every great power in the world had a royal ensign, that is a fing used to indicate the pres-ence of its head or ruler on any vessel. The matter was laid before the cabinet, which made no opposiion. The president himself decided upon the de ign of the flag, which was to be a blue ground with the arms of the United States in the centre. It was then ordered by the navy department that this new dags should be placed on their lists, and hoisted at the main when the president was on board any essel. It was first used on the occasion of the resident's trip to Florida in 1883.

Poisonous Air in Wells.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: What is the cause of the poisonous air, called choke-damp, in wells, and what will prevent it?

T. W. Cole. The poisonous air often found in wells, which freuently causes immediate suffocation to persons de-cending into them, is carbonic acid gas. It accu-nulates in the bottom of wells simply because it is much heavier than atmospheric air, and settles into them by the force of its own weight. It is largely absorbed by water, and thus rendered harmiess, and for this reason most frequently accumulates in old wells where there is little or no water. It is always advisable when about to descend into a well which has not been used for some time, or one in which has not been used for some time, or one in which the water has become quite low, to let down a burning candle first. If the air in the well is heavily charged with earbonic acid the light will go out, and as a rule it may be said that when there is not enough oxygen in the air to sustain the combustion of a candlewick this air cannot be safely breathed by human lyang. When the air of wells is too impured on the ungs. When the air of wells is too impure to ente it may become purified by agitating so as to drive part of the carbonic acid gas out of the well and drawing in atmospheric ar to dilute the remainder. This is most frequently done by exploding a charge of gunpowder in the well. A simpler means purifying the air is by overing a vessel containing ignited charcoal nearly to the bottom. Red-ho coals have the property of absorbing many times heir bulk of this gas, and when cooled they may be drawn up, ignited, and lowered again. A well in which a candle would not burn within twenty-six feet of the bottom has been purified by this plan in a few hours. Turning a stream of water into the well will also soon absorb the injurious gas; or, if the well can be ventilated, this gas can be

The Mirage.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: Give an explanation of the mirage, the cause thereof and when visit ble.

The cause of the mirage is extremely simple. It is merely the difference in density of contiguous strata of the atmosphere. It usually occurs when from any cause, as the radiation of heat from the earth the stratum of air lying near the surface of the earth in any locality, is rendered less dense than the stratum above it. In this case rays of light from a distant object situated in the denser medium— that is, a little above the earth's surface—will strike the marer surface at a very obtuse angle, and be re-flected backward. Thus, if a speciator is situated on an eminence and looking at a distant object in the same stratum of air, he will see the object by directly transmitted rays, and, besides this, rays from the object will be reflected from the upper surface of the rarer stratum of air beneathe surface of the rarer stratum of air beneathe. The image produced will be below the real object and inverted. In certain states of the atmosphere only a part of the rays are reflected, and thus two images are formed, one by refraction and one by reflection, the first erect, the second inverted. Sometimes objects that are distant, and beyond the range of vision because of the curved surface of the earth, are made visible; this is simply caused by the refraction of the atmosphere. mirage of the desert, which takes the appearance of mirage of the desert, which takes the appearance of a lake or sheet of water, is the reflection of the sky or a cloud. As the reflecting surface is irregular and constantly varies its position, owing to the continual communication of heat to the upper stratum, the reflected image will be constantly varying, and present the appearance of water rufiled by the wind. This form of mirage will of ea deceive experienced to water. A mirage frequently seen in

It was removed to Worcester in 1775, where it has been issued continuously ever since. Among the ancients the (o ner-stones of public buildings were laid with imposing ceremonies. The historian Tacitus describes very fully the laying of the corner-stone at the rebuilding of the capitol of Roine. A procession of vestal virgins, robed in white, surrounded the stone, and conserated it with libations of living water. A prayer to the gods followed, and then the magistes, priests, senators, and knights laid hold of eropes and moved the mighty stone to its proper sition. In a hollow cut in the stone were placed ngots of gold, silver, and other metals, which had ot been melted in any furnace. FELL IN THE FIRE.

The Bill Poster of Albany Meets a Horrible Death. Albany. Ga., October 14—[Special.]—Bill Lewis, the colored bill poster, was burned to death this morning The neighbors smelled burning flesh, and broke into his room, the doors of which were locked. They found him lying dead with his head in the fire. He was an epileptic, and fell in the fire while in a fit. He was a horrible spectacle. His head and face, chest and arms were completely baked. A few years since he met with a similar accident, and was terribly disfigured, his nose being burned off and the flesh all burned off his head. A hard matter gradually formed over his brain, and his skull loosened. Doctor Alfriend one day took off the top of his head and friend one day took off the top of his head and handed it to him. He has carried on his busi-ness for years in this condition.

THEY BROKE OUT OF JAIL But Were Captured Before They Could Get Away.

Five prisoners made a desperate and almost successful attempt to escape from the city prison last night, by fearing a hole through the floor of the cell in which they were confined.

Three of the negroes are now in the county jail. On the tenth of the month Ila Simons, Joe Thomas On the tenth of the month The Simons, Joe Thomas and Bill Giles were arrested because they were thought to have had a hand in breaking open some box cars. They were kept in a cell until Saturday, when they were taken before Judge Tanner, by whom they were bound over. Yesterday morning Matt Holland and Green Jackson were picked up for disorderly conduct and were placed in the cell with the three car breakers.

About half-past seven last night Captain Mereer, Call Officer Green and Patrolman Veal were string in the office talking to Statibnhouse-Keeper Siewart. Jeff, the jantor, was dozing in a chart near the door leading to the corridor, Suddenly some one in one of the cells Legan yelling loudly for help. The janitor opened the door to ascertain the cause, when a person called on: "Them fellows in No. 3 there has broke out." Instantly every man was oh his feet. The main door was opened, and when a light was thrust through the bars in front of No. 3 the cell was found empty. There was a large hole in the corner of the cell which explained the emptiness of the cell.

through the bass in front of No. 3 the cent was found empty. There was a large hole in the corner of the cell which explained the emptiness of the cell.

Under the floor upon which the cells are located is a basement in which are three dark cells. These cells have not been used in several years and in order to reach them or to leave them one must ascend a stairway leading to the prison office. The officers knew that the prisoners were in the basement unless they had cut through a basement wall, a task which would be slow and hard. They separated, part going into the basement by the front stairway and part by a rear stairway. In the basement it was as dark as pitch and matches were freely used to give a light. Officer Walton was in the lead, and as he entered the first cell struck a match.

INSTANTLY THE MATCH WAS BLOWN OUT.
The officer knew that it was not a wind which extinguished his light, because none even reaches the basement. He felt equally certain that some one had blown the light out, but before this had gone through his mind he felt a hand laid roughly upon his shoulder. Believing that it was one of the prisoners who was grabbing him the officer temarked;

"Move and I'll kill you.

Strike a match, Stewari,"

The stationhouse keeper struck the match and as

"Move and I'll kill you. Here they are boys. Strike a match, Stevart."

The stationhouse keeper struck the match and as he did so the officers discovered two of the prisoners in one cell. One of them had his arm upon Wallou's shoulder and was ready for a fight, but the sight of the pis ols quiete l him.

"Come out," said Stationiouse Keeper Stewart.

The negroes marched out and then the other three were found in the other two cells—two in one and one in the other. They were led back to the corridor, and Jackson and Holland placed in a secure cell, while Simon, Thomas and Gies were handcuffed together. After they ascertained that they could not escape the negroes began laughing.

"That was a tight squezz getting through that hole," said Simon.

"We would have been willing to take our chances. If we had just waited until two or three o'clock we would have made it too."
As Simon, Thomas and diles were being taken to jail they informed the officers that a convict who was in the cell an hour or two Saturday night had started the hole, and that he would have gotten away if he had not been removed.

You Can Travel on Your Trunk.

From the Indianapolis Journal.

"Do you know that if a man has a heavy trunk he can sometimes travel a long distance on a railroad without a ticket or any money?" said a young man yesterday, who had recently made his way back from Texas with but a few dollars. "When I reached St. Louis I had but five cents in my pocket, and I did not know a manthere I could ask for aloun. I went to the ticket agent, and making known my condition asked him how I could get to Indianapolis. 'Have you a trunk?' he asked. I told him I had, and he said he would introduce me to the conductor. When the conductor came up I was introduced, and he asked me for my check to my trunk, which I gave him, and he then gave me a smaller ticket, which he said would get my trunk in Indianapolis. I asked him how much the trunk would cost me when I went to get it out, and he said S7. Well, I got through all right, but when I presented the ticket for the trunk it cost in £9, instead of $7. I have been wondering ever since who got the money, but I didn't care, for I was lead to get back to Indianapoles ever on these got the money, but I didn't care, for I was glad to get back to Indianapolis even on those terms."

Railroaders-The Inter-State Law. The best news that has recently been printed n The Constitution's railroad column, especially of the agents who are interested in business to Texas, to the agents who are interested in business to rexas, was the announcement that the quarantine had been raised, so far as travel from Georgia is concerned. Signs announcing the fact were printed and posted in conspicuous places, and the passenger agents began packing their grips for an exodus to the Carolinas, where emigrants to Texas are generally to be found.

"The General Manager."

"The General Manager."

This is the official and unique name of the latest publication devoted to radroad news. It is a finely gotten up monthly, with just enough fun and finely executed colored illustrations to make it attractive to railroad men. "The General Manager" has struck a fertile field for humor and caricature in the incidents that area part of railroad operation, and will reap its reward in a paying subscription list. It is published in Chicago, by the Lanward company, at $1.00 per year.

Pleused With Mexico. Pleased With Mexico.

Mr. W. L. Clarke, formerly a division super intendent of the Central system, with headquarters at Columbus, Ga., arrived in the city Saturday and is visiting his railroad friends. Mr. Clark is now connected with the Mexican National railway, and is well pleased with his new position, the climate of Mexico and says the Mexican national is one of best built roads in the country. Captain W. J. Raoul, president of the Mexican National railway, which has just been com-pleted from Laredo, Texas, to the City of Mexico, passed through the city Saturday, en route to Mexico, to make a tour of inspection over this im-portant road. He was accompanied by Mr. Andrew Anderson, secretary of the road.

The Interstate Law. President Adams, of the Union Pacific road says: The interstate law is greatly responsible for the demoralization in railroad affairs, and experi-ence has shown that it is not basel upon sound principles.

The inability of roads to make lower rates on traffic between large commercial centres and intermediate local points, he says, has the effect of driving the tusiness away from large points, and the prohibition on pools is leading to a general consolidatin of roads. The weaker lines, being unable to compete against strong lines on even terms, will be forced out of existence and be absorbed by the strong lines.

"Governor Joseph E. Brown." The Western and Atlantic Railroad con The Western and Atlantic Kalifoad company Saturday sent out on train No. 1, leaving Atlanta at 1:25 p. m., their magnificent new passenger engine, "Governor Joseph E. Brown." This splendid locomotive was tuit in the company's shops in Atlanta, and is a specimen of home-made work of which Atlanta can justly be proud. Engineer Charlie Barrett haudles the throttle of the "Governor Joseph E. Brown." This was the flist trip of this engine on a passenger train.

Travel to Florida. Sam B. Webb, passenger agent of the Cen tral system, has received the following telegram from Mr. E. T. Charlton, general passenger agent:
Train No. 27 on the Savannah, Florida and Western railway connects with our train from Atlanta via Albany, Wayeross and runs through to Sanford, Florida, without change. Passengers are now going south via this route without delay or transfer.

Iron Freight Cars. One of the first principles of economy in railroad management is to decrease as much as pos-sible the proportion of dead weight hauled, as compared with the weight of paying freight carried No better means can be found for accomplishing the No better means can be round for accomplishing this purpose than that of increasing the weight of the freight car, while decreasing the weight of the car itself. The Iron Car company, of 115 Broadway, New York, have introduced on several of the leading railroad lines of the country, their tube-iron cars. President Pullman stated that the 4,508 persons employed in the company's shors at Pullman carned an average of $604 each, a much higher average per person than exists in any community where similar work is perferred.

What the South Can Do. The Railway News says: "Just now the south is going in for building box-ears and making ear-wheels. A railroad purchaser does not attach the importance to a car that he does to a locomothe importance to a car that he does to a bount-tive, and he is more likely to buy from a new or un-tried firm. But when a company invests in a loco-motive it likes to see the name of a firm with prestige upon it. The south is using up plenty of locomo-tives. There is room for locomotive works in the south and there are men with the grit to build one."

A KANSAS ENOCH ARDEN.

A Lawyer Supposed to Be Dead Turns Up in Colorado.

Atchison, Kan., October 14.—A ripple of excitement has been created in this community by the discovery that George W. Ocker, eight years ago an attorney at this bar, and who has been thought to be dead since that time, is alive and well in Colorado, where he is enjoying a lucrative law practice under his right name. In the fall of 1880 Ocker disappeared and left no trace of his whereabouts. Hir young wife was crazed at the loss of her husband, but as she was penniless she was unable to institute a vigorous search for him, and in a few weeks the matter was forgotten, and she took her child and went to her friends in the country. In January following Ocker's disappearance, the mutilated and un-recognizeable remains of a human being were found in a clump of trees near the village of Monrovia, on the Central branch of the Union Pacific railroad, in this country. The coroner instituted the usual investigation, and from a watch very like one Ocker had owned, it was decided that the bones were those of George W. Ocker. The sorrowing wife and mother accepted the body as their dead, and religiously buried it in the Monrovia cemetery, where the mother has been a frequent visitor to care for the grave, and keep it covered with flowers ever since. In due time the supposed young widow was wooed and won by a gentleman, who took her to his home in Nehama country, where she has borne him several children. They have prospered and lived happily together, and now the intelligence comes like a blight that she was a wife when her second husband married her. The statement that Ocker is alive is made by Nicholas Meyer, a young man who

An Effort to Settle the Outbreak of the Natives.

Zanzibar, October 14.—Negotiations are under way to settle the outbreak of the natives. The Germans are returning to Bagomayo. It is not true that the rising originated in religious fanaticism. The trouble was caused by the German officials treating the natives and the sultan's officials with contempt. At a public meeting of the British Indian traders it was resolved to petition the queen, through the prince of Wales and Lord Salisbury, to request the German government to take the necessary measures to restore confidence in Zanzibar, and thus avoid commercial ruin to the trading community, which numbers ten thousand persons. Three sailors who deserted from the German gun boat Moewe, taking with them a quantity of ammunition, and who roamed about the country, killing natives, have themselves been killed and eaten by the natives.

THE GAME OF BALL.

WILL THERE BE A SOUTHERN LEAUE IN 1880?

The People in New Orleans and Other Southern Cities Want a Southern League

The baseball of 1888 is over and everybody ted in the game is indulging in specula

Now will there be a southern league next

Just at present the prospect is not the brightest but the southern league has had darker days than it now has all the same.

New Orleans is more than anxious to have the league re-organized while Charleston and Memphis are equally willing to put in clubs. Nashville is considering the scheme again and Birmingham is reaching the old capital. Mobile too is coquitting with the great national game,

But the eyes of all these southern ball lovgreat factor in the league which cannot be dis-pensed with. That has been proven twice since Atlanta went out of the league. The league never failed with Atlanta in and is not likely to.

Besides being one of the best ball towns in the south—if not the very best—the city's geographi-pal situation makes her essential to the success of the league. With Atlanta out the jumps are too long and the clubs cannot stand the expense. With atlanta in the rides are just right.

Atlantians are slow to take hold of the matler. Those who were interested in the champlon slubs the gate city has had, remember the terrible abuse they received and don't care to have it repeated. However, there are some among them who are quietly studying the situation, and it is not wholly impossible to induce them to put a club in the field next season, and if a club is put in it will be a first flyinging. will be a flag flying nine.

The southern lovers of the game have dipested the situation pretty thoroughly, and when the league is organized it will be in better shape

Among those who have made a careful study of the situation is Mr. George Burbridge, of Jack-conville, Fla. Mr. Burbridge is well up in the game and has managed several professional teams. He is been since the yellow fever knocked him out of the

Last night Mr. Burbridge was discussing the game with a party of gentlemen in the Kiraball.

"Is there to be a southern league next sea-"Is there to be a southern reague next season?" he was asked.

"I believe there will be," he said, "you see Mr. James Hearn, of New Orleans, has taken up the matter and says there will be a southern league, and stronger than ever before. New Orleans, Memphis, Birmangham and Charleston have aiready expressed a desire to enter a club. Nashville has the lever again and it is safe to say they will be in the

"But can the league puil through?"
"Oh, yes, but it is the opinion of all of these citie that, without Atlanta, the league cannot be a success from a geographical view, as well as a financia one Such a league, for o ten a business principle and a platform of low saucres, is bound to be a un

"Can low salaries be put through?"
"Of course. It is done in every

"Can low salaries he put through?"

"Can low salaries he put through?"

"Of course. It is done in every other minor league. In the Southern league the trouble heretofore has been that cluss have paid too much money to players. It is a well known fact that the Southern league paid higher salaries than any minor league in the country. They should have a Routs, Say St.200, on it each organization deposit, say St.200, with the president of the league as a guarantee that they will not go beyond the lund."

"There is another important thing the southern league has laways lost sight of," continued Mr. Burbridge, "and that is the president—not that I wish to reflect on any of the gentlemen who have been president—they are all good. But they should pay the president a good salary and make him devote his whole time to the business of the league, the same as is done in the larger leagues. The great trouble in the pass is that the president has been a business man who could not afford to freglect his business, and the consequence was the league was turned over to some clerk in his office. This is a very important matter and the southern league should be careful to select a man who knows the rules and has the nerve to carry them out, such a man Ittlink James H. a. n. s. and I don't think the league could find a better man. We hope to see Atlanta in the league ends with New York

The race in the league ends with New York

The big event in baseball now is the fight between St. Louis, champions of the association, and the New Yorks, of the league. Nine games are

In the association St. Louis wins again, with Brooklyn second and Kausas eity last. The standing of the clubs is:

National League.

Baseball Notes. Boom the league now.

Detroit will reserve Campe. The Detroits will need reorganizing badly. Louisville papers calls Mullane the Dago. Gaffney is to umpire the World's series. Jack Sneed is still playing good ball for Watkins is hustling for players for his Kansas The Pittsburgs deny now that Chicago has a claim on Sunday. Fred Carroll, the Pittsburg catcher, is laid up with a sprained knee.

Mark Baldwin of the Chicagoes is at home in Pittsburg nursing a sore arm.

Larry Twitchell has bet Hanlon $50 that the Browns will beat the Giants.

Tener, the big Chicago pitcher, depends mostly for effect on change of pace A fund is being gotten up in St. Louis for Captain Comiskey. Comiskey deserves a reward. The game for the championship will attract more attention this year than they did last.

The Clevelands are to release Alberts, the fine third base man and base runner of the Clevelands.

Shorty Fuller is batting better as the sea-son reaches an end. Next season the kid will loom up as a batter.

The Cincinnati Reds are playing better ball with O'Cornor and Kappell than they did with Corkhill and Feunelley. Perry, of the Brooklyns, was laid off with-out pay. He will probably be placed on a toboggan when the season terminates.

The south's meeting of representative base-tail men below Mason and Dixon's line, it must not be forgotten, takes place on October 22. Sam Morton is reported as saying that he will accept neither the presidency nor the secretary ship of the Western association next season.

Von Der Ahe and Comiskey always get along well together. Why can't the balance of the Slayers and the boss president keep on good terms.

The chase after young blood will be lively from now on. Most of the fine men in the minor reagues have already been picked out, however.

President Day now says that four games of the world's championship series shall be piayed in New York, four in St. Louis, and the odd one in au outside city.

It is stated that Casey, Fogarty, Wood and Mulvey are to be released by the Phillies on the winding up of the season. Small reliance can be placed in that story.

THE GAME OF BALL.

THERE BE A SOUTHERN LEAGUE IN 1889?

The People in New Orleans and Other Southern Cities Want a Southern League What is Said.

The baseball of 1888 is over and everybody interested in the game is indulging in speculation s to the season of '89.

Now will there be a southern league next

Just a present the prospect is not the brightest but the southern league has had darker days than it now has all the same.

New Orleans is more than anxious to have the league re-organized while Charleston and Memphis are equally willing to put in clubs. Nashville is considering the scheme again and Birmingham is coaching the old capital. Mobile too is coquitting with the great national came. with the great national game,

But the eyes of all these southern ball lov-ing towns are turned towards Atlanta. They all realize that the gate city of the south is the one reat factor in the league which cannot be dis-pensed with. That has been proven twice since Atlanta went out of the league. The league never failed with Atlanta in and is not likely to.

Besides being one of the best ball towns in the south—if not the very best—the city's geographi-tal situation makes her essential to the success of the league. With Atlanta out the jumps are too long and the clubs cannot stand the expense. With Atlanta in the rides are just right.

Atlantians are slow to take hold of the matter. Those who were interested in the champion slubs the gate city has had, remember the terrible buse they received and don't care to have it le-peated. However, there are some among them who are quietly studying the situation, and it is not wholly impossible to induce them to put a club n the field next season, and if a club is put in it

The southern lovers of the game have dirested the situation pretty thoroughly, and when the league is organized it will be in better shape

Among those who have made a careful study of the situation is Mr. George Burbridge, of Jackbot the situation is Mr. deorge Introduce, of occa-bonville, Fla. Mr. Burbridge is well up in the game and has managed several professional teams. He is a quiet, gentlemanly baseball man and from long experience can come very near telling what is wanted. He is now at the Kimball where he has been since the yellow fever knocked him out of the

Last night Mr. Burbridge was discussing the game with a party of gentlemen in the Kıraball.

"Is there to be a southern league next season?" he was asked.
"I believe there will be," he said, "you see Mr.
James Hearn, of New Orleans, has taken up the matter and says there will be a southern league, and stronger than ever before. New Orleans, Menphis, Birmingham and Charleston have aiready expressed a desire to enter a club. Nashville has the lever again and it is safe to say they will be in the tace."

"But can the league puil through?"
"Oh, yes, but it is the opinion of all of these cities that, without Atlania, the league cannot be a success from a geographical view, as well as a financial one Such a league, for other a business princifle and a platform of low salaries, is bound to be a such and a platform of low salaries, is bound to be a luscess."

"Can low salaries be put through?"

"Of course. It is done in every other minor league. In the southern league the trouble heretofore has been that clubs have paid too much money to players. It is a well known fact that the Southern league paid higher salaries than any minor league in the country. They should have a liout, say $1,200, in teach organization deposit, say $1,000, with the president of the league as a guarantee that they will not go beyond the limit."

"There is another important thing the southern league has always lost sight of," continued Mr. Burbridge, "and that is the president—not that I wish to reflect on any of the gentlemen who have been president—they are all good. But they should pay the president a good salary and make him devote his whole time to the business of the league, the same as is done in the larger leagues. The great trouble in the past is that the president has been a business, man who could not afford to neglect his business, and the consequence was the league was the same as is done in the larger leagues. The great trouble in the past is that the president has been a business man who could not afford to neglect his business, and the consequence was the league was tarned over to some clerk in his office. This is a very important matter and the southern league should be careful to select a man who knows the rules and has the nerve to carry them out, such a man I think James Hearn is, and I don't think the league could find a better man. We hope to see Atlanta in the league text season, and if the league ndopts the low salaries platform we are sure a since well he made to nay in Atlanta."

The race in the league ends with New York first and Chicago second. Washington is at the bot-tom. The Giants have tried for six years to win the pennant and have at last succeeded.

The big event in baseball now is the fight between St. Louis, champions of the association, and the New Yorks, of the league. Nine games are to be played.

In the association St. Louis wins again, with Brooklyn second and Kansas city last. The standing of the clubs is:

with a sprained knee.

Mark Baldwin of the Chicagoes is at home in Pittsburg nursing a sore arm.

Larry Twitchell has bet Hanlon $50 that the Browns will beat the Gianta.

Tener, the big Chicago pitcher, depends mostly for effect on change of pace. A fund is being gotten up in St. Louis for Captain Comiskey. Comiskey deserves a reward. The game for the championship will attract nore attention this year than they did last.

The Clevelands are to release Alboris, the fine third base-man and base runner of the Clevelands.

The Cincinnati Reds are playing better ball with O'Connor and Kappell than they did with Corkhill and Fennelley.

Perry, of the Brooklyns, was laid off without pay. He will probably be placed on a toboggan when the season terminates.

Three men in Washington, Ted Sullivan says, are prepared to put up $10,000 to strengthen the club for next season. The Senators need strengthening badly.

strengthening badly.

The question of a new president in the American association is being agitated and it is said that ex-President Zack Phelis of the Louisville club will be pushed for the place.

The New Yorks are being petted by the home press. It they are testen in the world's series the dictionary won't have hames enough to express the feelings of the writers who are now writing columns about the invincible Glants.

Cincinnati is sick and tired of association bail playing. President Stearns says he will sell out, and several business men of that city would be willing to buy him out if they were sure of a league franchise. As Indianaphis is growing from bad to worse, it would be well for the league magnates to remember how the players of that city were treated in "78 and inke Checimnati into the league.—Boston Globe."

Imagine a man of Sadie Houck's calibre refusing to play in New Orleans for $175 a month because he couldn't afford to live on that sum. Bob Lames remembers when $6 a week was a princely income to Houck. He was one of the fellows who helped put a nail in the coffin of the southern league. The public has no patience with the "wreezers" and those who make the "kick" this fall in the face of all the baseball failures of the past senson are liable to be doomed to live on little snow balls or the interest of their debts.

Grau's Opera Company.

This is coming this way and was in Charleston last week, where they played "The Black Hussar," and "Robert Macaire," another name for Erminie. The troupe is declared very good and the performance delightial. The Charleston Courier of the lith said of them:
 "Erminie," the most popular of the modern operas and whose popularity may be best measured by its two years' run in New York, was played for the first t'me in Charleston last night at the Academy of Music. The performance by the Grau Opera company was very delightful, very artistic and very entertaining. Miss Douglass appeared to great advantage through of it the performance. She sang her first solo last night, "Ah, when love is young, with a pleasant degree of sprightliness and vivacity although it was not until she sang the somewha hackin yed but beautifull lullaby in the second act that she was thoroughly appreciated. The song was admirtably given as was thei exquisite refrain. The best of Mr. Arnold's work since the opening of the engagement was done last night in the barltone solo, which is sung with the splitted soldlers' chorus in the same act. The sextette in the first act was also an admirably done pleee of yocal work.

Cadeaux's "Dickey Bird" song was, of course, well received, together with the whistling chorus. The "yocal gayotte" was richly and elaborately presented, and that, too, was redemanded. The "good-night chorus" was charmingly sting. It was recalled with genuine appreciation and enthusiasm. The other familiar numbers of the opera were also sung very creditably.

The very large measure of the humor of the "play"

The other familiar numbers of the opera were also sung very creditably.

The very large measure of the humor of the "play" was due to Cadenux. His make-up reminded one very forcibly of the common illustrations of Dickens's Fagin. He was very droll as Cadeaux. As the Duich Baron there was a slight drop in the comedy of the character. Mr. Clayton's Macaire was a consistent piece of acting and well up to an artistic standard.

"Erminie" was certainly a great success. Everybody wanted to hear it and everybody was apparently delighted with the performance.

Pining for Adjournment-Other Gossip From the Capital. WASHINGTON, October 15 .- [Special.]-The overnment employes here are coming up ably with their subscriptions to the demo-eratic campaign fund. Chairman Barnum cceeded in impressing upon them that funds re necessary. He assured them that the re-blicans have a large fund which they intend to apply in the places where it will do the most good during the last several days of the canrass, and that the democratic committee must have money to counteract the effect of the lands at Chairman Quay's disposal. They realized this and have come forward splendidly already with their contributions. No one has been assessed, nor has any attempt been made to force any one to subscribe. They were just notified that money was needed, and they are now subscribing it almost as fast as it can be It is understood here today that the republiupon New York; that they can afford to lose diana if they can carry New York, and every appliance of modern politics is to be used in the empire state to meet the heaviest charge that can be made in New York. Superintendent Horan, of the national museum, left Washington yesterday for Augusta to superintend the placing of the gov-ernment exhibits from that bureau at the national exposition, which opens in that city on the 8th of November. Major Charles S. nissioner of the government exhibits, will also leave Washington for Augusta in a few days and hopes to have the government exhibit historical and illustrative at the functions of the bureau of the different departments In readiness by the time the exposition opens. ANXIOUS TO ADJOURN. When Colonel Oates, of Alabama, intro duced his resolution this morning for an ad-journment of congress on Wednesday, there was much applause, coupled with cries of "Vote, vote, vote," by the few members present. Every one entered into it, and it seemed evident from the press gallery that there was not a member who opposed it. However, Colonel Oates deemed it advisable not to demand a vote until tomorrow. Before the session there had been an informal caucus on the adjournment question, attended by Senators Gorman, Harris, Hampton, Reagan, Morgan, Cockrell, and Representatives Mills, Turner, McMillin and Speaker Carlisle. They had, Morgan was bitterly opposed to adjournment at all. The others, while favoring adjournment, thought it best to wait a day or two for developments, and hen consider the matter again. Colonel Oates could see nothing to be gained by waiting, and on his own responsibility introduced the resolution referred to above. This resolution had the effect of practically uniting the house in favor of an adjournment, and then it committee went to the senate to confer with the democrats there. While they were in the chamber. Senator Brown received recognition by introducing a petition, and said that he saw no reason why congress should remain in session, as it was swident to every one that, no quorum was present and no business could be transacted. He then concluded by asking Senator Allison, the author of the tariff bill, if there was any possibility of passing it before election, and if not were the republicans in favor of adjourn-was that the members of the ways and means

Senator Allison replied that he saw no possi-ble chance of passing the bill by the time indi-cated, and that his side of the chamber were ready and willing to adjourn. It was understood that such a statement as the above from Senator Allison would practically settle the question of adjournment, but it seems that it has not, for Senator Morgan says he is yet opposed to allowing the republicans to adjourn without taking action upon the tariff. He also says that other democrats of the senate are of the same opinion, although the majority favor adournment. Senator Morgan says he would not call "no quorum" upon an adjournment resolution, but would vote against it, as he thinks it bad policy to adjourn at this time, or at any time, until the senate shall pass a tariff bill. Sénator Morgan further says that he predict tonight, with any degree of certainty, as to when congress will adjourn. It might Pdjourn this week. Certainly a very large majority is in favor of an immediate adjournment, but as one man in either house can prevent the will of the majority being carried out, congress may continue in session, without a recess, until the fourth of next March. The members of the ways and means committee, however, say adjournment will be had this Representative Mills was at the house today He will be in the city a day or two, and will then go to New York state to make a number of speeches, and from there to New Jersey. He is looking remarkably well and is full of cam-paign fire and confidence. He says that whereever he has been he has found the people enthusiastic and the democratic cause popular. From all directions comes good news. He is perfectly confident of success.

Mr. Clements left this afternoon for Wyattsville, Md., wherethe speaks tonight at a big ocratic gathering called to indorse the reelection of Barnes Compton.

Governor and Mrs. Gordon spent yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gordon here and out on to New York this morning. E.W.B. SENATOR BROWN SPEAKS

On the Question of Adjournment-Thinks Congress Should Adjourn at Once. Washington, October 15.—The attendar of senators today was larger than might have been anticipated, there being some thirty of them present when the journal was read. On motion of Mr. Hoar, the first Tuesday in December next was fixed for the consideration of the Pacific railroad funding bill. Three vet ced pension bills were laid before the senate. One was vetoed on the ground that the beneficiary having been a soldier's widow had remarried and had a husband now living; another because the action of the pen-lion bureau upon her application gives the beneficiary a much larger and than this beneficiary a much larger sum than this pecial act, and a third because the soldier npon whose service the claim originated died from causes not connected with the army tervice.

Mr. Brown presented a petition of the Woman's Christian Temperance union of Georgia for the repeal of the internal revenue laws and addressed the sonate. He referred to the fact that there was no quorum of either house in the city of Washington, and that no business could lawfully be done in the face of
